Dull Boys and Mechanical Ability.
Great has always been the comfort that the parents of boys dull at their books have had in thinking that they would probably be particularly bright in some other direction. If there was any doubt about it, the fact could always be proved by stories of artists, writers and musicians, who have been thought dullards at school. But mechanical genius and dullness at books do not, it is said, go hand in hand. The director of a large western school of manual training says of such cases: "As a rule, such a boy fails to show marked ability of any sort. A boy who comes to us with a passion for machinery, who cannot be kept away from engines, the pile of cogs and the snapping of belts, never gets beyond a sort of morbid, simple curiosity to see the wheels go round. He develops no curiosity nor the ability to do good, accurate work. His book work is of a very similar character."—New York Post.

Planet Shadows.
There is no doubt that some of the most brilliant planets, such as Venus and Jupiter, are capable of casting distinct shadows, as may be seen any fine evening in the tropics. Not long ago M. L. Griot observed that Jupiter threw a distinct shadow of his watch upon a wall, and that he was able to read a newspaper by the light. M. Griot also finds that Mars is able to cast a shadow, but a much fainter one than Jupiter. He was also able to count the number of words in a newspaper placed in the light of the planet entering by a window, but he could not read them.—Exchange.

Two Recent Inventions.
The varied trend of men's minds is well illustrated by the recent invention of two policeman's billies, one of which contains knife blades that shoot out from the interior if the prisoner grasps the instrument, while the other is fitted with a rubber cap to prevent the infliction of unnecessary pain. President Angell of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals prefers the latter.—Boston Transcript.

BILLIONS OF SUNS.

Stars of the Milky Way—Immensity of the Universe.

A San reporter recently spent an evening in St. Louis with Prof. E. Barnard, of Lick Observatory. Prof. Barnard is the discoverer of sixteen comets, and he bears the reputation of being the keenest of all the eagle-eyed searchers of the heavens. He is yet a young man, and he is enthusiastic in the work he is now pursuing—photographing the Milky Way.

Original investigators are usually very careful to make no statements concerning their work which facts do not fully bear out, and Prof. Barnard was no exception to the rule. When asked how many stars there were in the Milky Way, he replied: "The old text books said the Milky Way probably contained 20,000,000 stars, but I can photograph more than that number in a five minutes' dry-plate exposure. We estimate pretty accurately that the Lick telescope shows 200,000,000 stars. Of course, you know that photography catches stars which the telescope does not reveal. The greatest revelations now coming to astronomers come along the line of stellar and nebular photography. Modern methods in astronomical photography is such as to give us a quite clear delineation of the Milky Way, nebulae, and comets. Some of the negatives I have in this little case show us the growth and changes of comets and nebulae in a most satisfactory way."

Prof. Barnard then exhibited three photographs of the comet that he discovered in October. The first showed the nucleus quite diffused and the tail split in two sections. A negative made twenty-four hours later showed the head contracted, the tail shorter, and the sections closer together. Strangely, another photograph forty-eight hours later showed the tail elongated and the head condensed, giving evidence of a growth of many million miles in the tail in the two days which elapsed between the photographs.

"How many nebulous groups have you discovered in the Milky Way to date?" he was asked.

"I have been at work on my photographs about two years, and I think I have found forty or fifty groups of nebulae supposed to belong to the infant stages of world-making, according to the nebular hypothesis."

Prof. Barnard did not like to make an approximate statement of the number of stars in the Milky Way. Finally, however, he said:

"I do not believe I have half finished my photographs, and it will require three years to complete them, for it is tedious labor, which often requires many hours' exposure, at favorable times, aided by a delicate manipulation of fine instruments. At the conclusion of my labors I believe an estimate may be made, and I think these little specks will prove to be say 500,000,000 of suns. You must know that no known clock-work will move the instruments so as to keep a given star in one position, so the fingers must be used to adjust the camera. Furthermore, we have to wait long for just the proper conditions for this work."

Prof. Barnard's plates are the most complete and satisfactory ever undertaken, for, besides being an eminent and competent observer, he has been a photographer from childhood. Making photographs of the Milky Way interests him more than any other work he has ever undertaken, and the work has been fruitful in unlooked-for directions. It was while doing this labor that he noticed certain displacements and lights which led to the discovery of many comets. The photographs of suns so large that ours is a grain of sand on the infinite shores of matter in comparison do not show larger on his plates than the thousandth of an inch in diameter, while movements of mighty orbs at the appalling velocities of hundreds of miles per second are slower in the telescope than the creeping of the hour hand on a small clock's face.

"Yet a vaster thought," said Prof. Barnard, "is that the Milky Way, thickly studded as it is with giant stars, and resplendent with varied lights and magnitudes, show that every star has back of it a luminous background of possibly millions of suns; and the black spaces on my negatives, which presumably show the vault of empty space, in reality represent billions of miles of the universe, which a longer exposure of the plates would probably people with infinite suns, each with its train of planets, surging with the throbs of life and responsive to the control of law."—New York Sun.

A CYCLOPE OF FUN.

A Whirlwind of Laughter and Bursts of Applause.

There will be great excitement and a whirlwind of fun in the neighborhood of O'Dowd's residence at the opera house next Friday when Mark Murphy appears in the operatic comedy success "O'Dowd's Neighbors," the atmosphere will be filled with music, laughter and howls of applause. The dancing is fascinating, and the construction of the play is founded on the brightest of bright comedy lines. Mark Murphy needs no introduction to the theatre goers, his work in "Our Visitors" having stamped him as a comedian of the first water.

There are ten young ladies with the company, all of whom dance or sing.

BREVITIES.

An artesian well has been struck at Pierre, S. D., that has a flow of 400 barrels per minute and is highly magnetic. The gas which also accompanies the flow makes it worthless for fire protection as the gas will blaze if a light is applied to the water.

Three thieves entered the magnificent cathedral at Queretaro, Mexico, and carried away with them the sacred vessels and a great many ornaments of solid gold. The total value of the articles taken is about $10,000. The robbery has caused much excitement in the city of Queretaro. There is no clew to the thieves.

The Board of County Commissioners yesterday passed an ordinance creating a Board of Health, and appointed Drs. H. H. Hogan, G. H. Thoma and Percy T. Phillips members of the Board, with authority to take such action as they may deem necessary to prevent the introduction and spreading of infectious and contagious diseases.

The locomotive engineers selected by Superintendent Fillmore and who acted as pallbearers at the funeral of Senator Stanford are Sam Clark, Con. W. Williams, Barney Kelly, James Resigree, J. E. From same points to San Francisco, Sacramento, Stockton or Oakland stock yards, $50 per car, shipper to load, unload and pay transfer at Reno. There will also be an additional charge of 50 cents per car for corral and car bedding.

While the ancient church of Rome in Russia was crowded with pilgrims a panic was caused by a false alarm of fire, which had been raised by thieves to facilitate their operations. In the mad rush for exit hundreds were knocked down and trampled to death and others were suffocated. The bodies of 126 women and ten men were taken from the church, and a number of others were killed by leaping from the church windows thirty feet from the ground.

A FABULOUS FIND.

A Bonanza Discovered in White Pine County.

The Salt Lake Herald says the stockholders of the Grizzly Mining Company of that city are jubilant over the report of a fabulous find in the company's mine, which is located in White Pine county, Nevada. Isaac Jennings, president of the company, received a letter from Secretary Jesse W. Fox, Jr., who was sent out last week to investigate. He states that a body of ore has been encountered in the Lookout shaft that runs 10,000 ounces to the ton. A drift at the bottom of the shaft had uncovered the vein for an area of 15 by 20 feet, and showed ruby, horn silver and bromide. A carload of the ore will be shipped to this city by way of Oasis at once. The cost of mining, milling and transportation is about $50 per ton.

FLORISTON NOTES.

The Lumber, Ice and Fish Business. Miss Lena Fairbanks of Reno is visiting Mrs. F. Bergen.

With two lumber yards, a sawmill cutting about 30,000 feet per day, and an icing station for fruit, with the prospects of a planing mill and possibly a boot factory in the near future, we are probably holding our own.

The People's Ice Co. expect to have their houses empty about the 5th of July, when the Union Ice Co. will have the Rocky Run ice houses opened. The Floriston Ice Company expect to commence shipping from their old ice house about the last of the month.

The National Ice Company are icing the refrigerator fruit cars of the C. & P. R. R. Co. This station commenced icing cars about ten days ago for the Rock Island, which at present is not doing a very heavy business. It was thought at first that the icing could not be done without serious delay to trains, but cars are iced in less than five minutes, which with the necessary delay in switching has detained the trains but ten minutes so far.

Our fishermen still manage to make good catches. As the fish are still biting in very low water they bait with angle worms and grasshoppers, using sinkers. A few fish are being caught with flies, but the river is too high for good fly fishing. From ten to twenty pounds are the lowest and highest catches by the fishermen daily. The fishermen realize 25c per pound for their catches delivered in the express office.

Floriston, June 24, 1893.

R. S. MESICK.

Resolutions of Respect From the Nevada Bar.

During the session of the District Court this morning, Judge Rising presiding, Counsellor Mack called the attention of the court to the fact of the recent death of Richard S. Mesick, who in early years was a member of the Nevada bar. It was met and proper that fitting resolutions be drafted by the bar, and upon the suggestion of Mr. Mack, Judge Rising appointed W. E. Deal, William Woodburn and J. W. Whitchea a committee to draft a memorial to the late Judge Mesick. When the court adjourned it did so out of respect to the memory of the deceased jurist.—Virginia Chronicle.

Notice to Jurors.

The three cases set for trial next Monday, and for which a trial jury has been subpoenaed, having been disposed of in the meantime, it is ordered that all trial jurors who have been subpoenaed to appear in the District Court on Monday, June 20, 1893, are excused from attending under said subpoena, and they will not be required to appear or answer next Monday.

By order of the Court.

Dredge Work.

Superintendent Rae has for the past two weeks had a force of men at work on the old scow of the Carson River Placer Mining and Dredging Company, taking off some of the machinery, rearranging the amalgamator and strengthening the scow. It will probably be but a short time now before the machinery will be here and in place, and a thorough test made with the entire new plant.—Lyon County Times.

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

The Lick Telescope Outdone.

In the shop of Alvan Clark & Sons,

Cambridgeport, Mass., are now in process of construction two huge telescopic instruments which are soon destined to prove of universal interest. These machines are the enormous 40-inch lens telescope, which is almost completed, for the Kenwood observatory of the Uni-

graphic telescope, which is being made for the astronomical observatory of Harvard college.

The lenses for the Chicago telescope are four inches larger than the lenses in the telescope at the Lick observatory and are 40 inches in diameter. The Clark's contract for the two lenses expired in just about a year, but they consider that the work is coming on exceedingly well. In fact, the crown glass is all ground down, wrapped up
